

Within every human in the world - echoes the voice of Abraham that whispers: 'Take a journey inward! Connect with your inner entrepreneur and discover the world and yourself.

Each person also has another inner voice, loud and confusing, that screams: Stop! Don't leave the familiar path, keep leaning on what you know already.

.

If you want to be successful in listening to the clear and gentle voice of Abraham, you must disregard the background noise of the confusing voices. Observe what is familiar, and understand that holding on to it stems from fear of the unknown and not from confidence in what you know.

If you'll be able to find courage, and embrace the innermost of your heart, you will realise that you will never be alone on the journey.

And how is that courage revealed? through the laughter of the inner Isaac.

If you just understand that everything is in order, that nothing happens by chance and that there is someone watching over you, even in hours that seem difficult and severe, if you just learn to laugh at everything lightheartedly, you will be able to overcome the fear of the unknown.

Do you prefer to continue stepping too seriously in the familiar swamp of habits?
Or do you have the courage to choose to laugh and go into the unknown?